1. Receipt is acknowledged of a prior art information disclosures statement filed March 28, 2006 for this application which is a 371 of PCT/IB04/02993 filed September 13, 2004 which claims benefit to provisional application US 60/506945 filed September 29, 2003.

2. Claims 1-11 are present in this application.

3. Claims 10 and 11 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot be dependent on another multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims 10-11 have not been further treated on the merits.

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Capek et al, see page 253 which teaches the conversion of Formula I to Formula II.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over above Capek et al disclosure alone or further in view of Leitner et al US 5,827,706.

Capek et al teaches the conversion by Fusarium solani strains. Leitner et al teaches that the strain is known in the art.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

The reference does not specify the claimed species ATCC 46829 which species may be novel but one of ordinary skilled in the art in view of the following would have been reasonably expect that the conversion would yield the same results absent patentable distinctions for the claimed processes:

Even further in light of the Supreme Court's recent decision in KSR International Co. v. Teleflex Inc (TFX)., 82 USPQ2d 1385 (2007) based on the reasoning may still include the established Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit standard that a claimed invention may be obvious if the examiner identifies a prior art teaching, suggestion, or motivation (TSM) to make it. However, the Guidelines explain that there is no requirement that patent examiners use the TSM approach in order to make a proper obviousness rejection. Furthermore, the Guidelines point out that even if the TSM approach cannot be applied to a claimed invention that invention may still be found obvious.

If there are any differences with respect to the claimed subject matter and the general knowledge pertaining to the art in the area, that these differences would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skilled in the pertinent art whether it was based on the art of record or claimed subject would have obvious for the "combination of familiar elements according to known methods is likely to be obvious when it does no more than yield predictable results".

Applicant is required to show patentable different and unexpected results may not be satisfactory based on the art of record but if there is any patentable distinctions, Examiner will consider for allowability over the art of record.

The claims are drawn to process wherein the substrate concentration is within a range which range would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skilled in the art for the conversion as well as the process steps of claim 9 which are conventional steps for procedure for culturing Fusarium solani.

6. The prior art references for German reference 956952 and Kondo et al are not in English which references are thus not in conformance with MPEP.

7. No claim is allowed.

8. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.
